Slave Trading: the Triangular Route, 1799-1800

John Knight

In 1792 the Abolitionist Movement was successful in getting the House of Commons to agree that the Slave Trade should be discontinued. However it was not until 27 July 1807 that the carriage of slaves on British vessels was prohibited by law, coming into effect from 1 March 1808. The reason for the lengthy delay was due to the great number of petitions brought by influential mercantile firms including The Royal African Company and the Society of Merchant Venturers. (Ref 1)

So, by taking the middle years of this period an exercise has been undertaken to see how many vessels were actually involved in this trade, the details being taken from Lloyds List nos. 3049-4115. These tables run to many pages and so the articles published in the Cameo (West Africa Study Circle) and the BWISC Bulletin includes, as examples, one page of the table of movements, one page of the ship details, along with the complete key and notes.

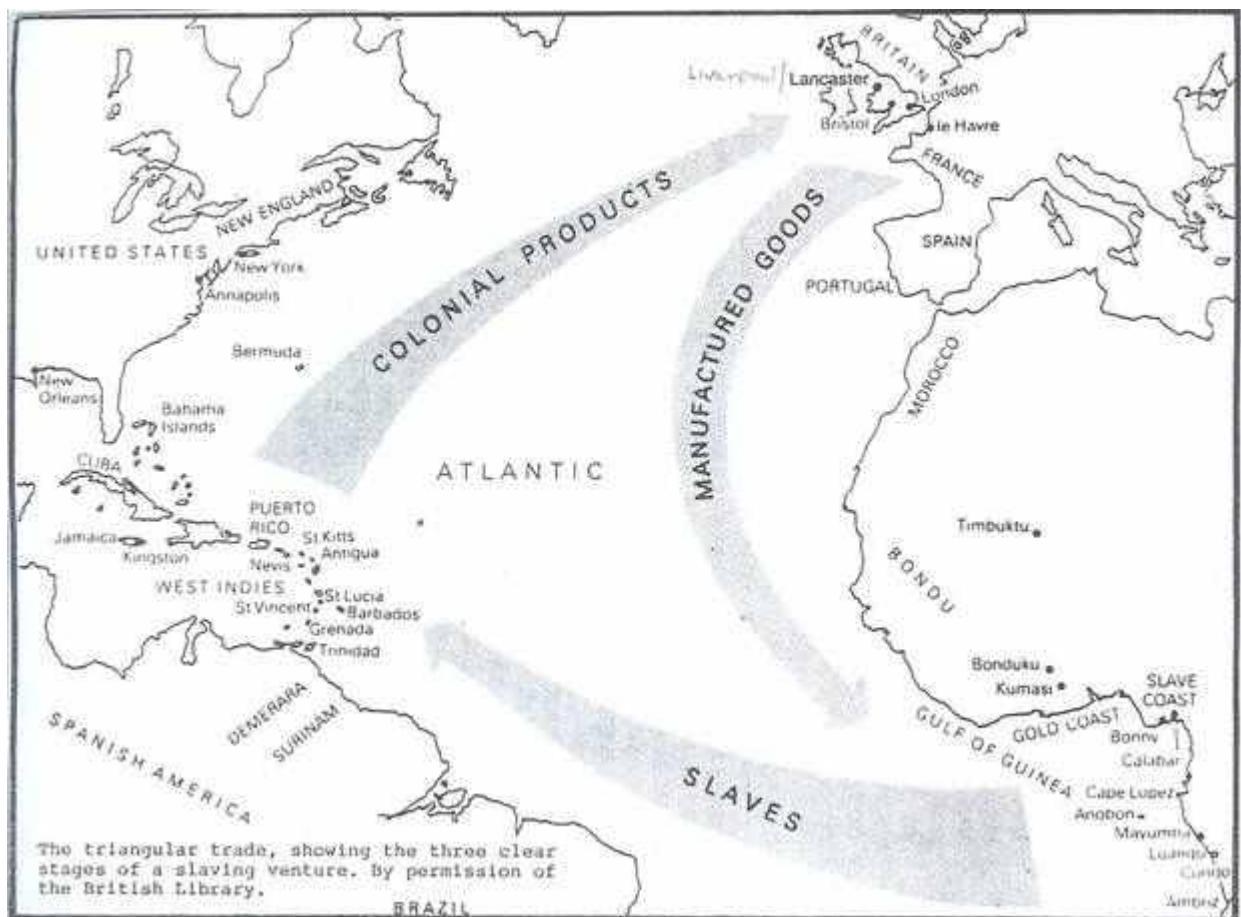

The complete tables show that Liverpool was by far and away the most prominent in despatching 'blackbirders' to Africa. London, although trading in this market, was beginning to trade in other commodities such as gold dust, ivory, wax, gum and palm oil. Regarding Bristol, this port had its heyday in the trade some 50-60 years earlier and was now mainly concentrating on plantation slavery in the West Indies and the maintenance thereof (Ref 2).

Some salient points:

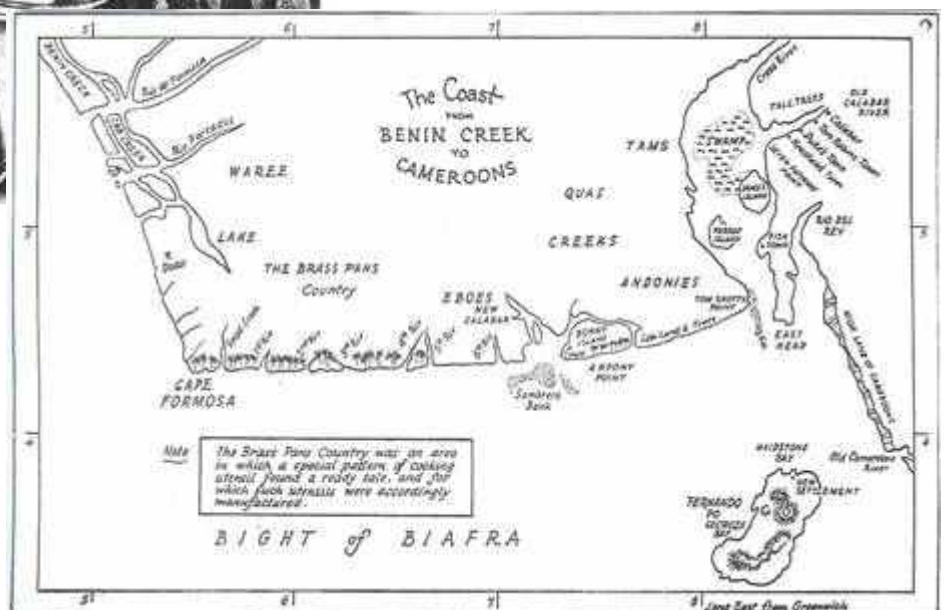

- A. Between 1798 and 1802 Liverpool ships carried on average in excess of 37,000 slaves a year but in the next 4 years 1803-1807 slave movement was reduced by 30% to just under 26,000 a year. (Ref 3)
- B. H. Crow was one of the most prominent captains in the trade, in command of vessels 'Will' and 'Ceres' and finished with the 'distinction' of being in charge of the last slave ship to depart from Liverpool. This vessel was 'Kitty's Amelia' which left during July 1807 and arrived in the West Indies with 400 slaves aboard. (Ref 4)
- C. 'Louisa', Capt Brown commanding, landed 326 slaves in Jamaica and netted in excess of £19,300 when sold (voyage 1800) (Ref 5)
- D. 'London', Capt Buckle commanding, carried cargoes for Sierra Leone Company, who were staunch abolitionists (Voyage 1800) (Ref 6)
- E. Well-known slave merchants included:
 - Aspinall & Co
 - J Bolton & Co
 - Deniston & Co
 - J Penny & Co
 - Tobin & Co
 - T Leyland & Co (Mr T Leyland ended up as a banker forming his own bank, Leyland & Bullins in 1807. He left over £600,000 in his estate.)
 - G Case & Co (became Mayor of Liverpool)
 - Earle & Co (Mr T Earle also became Mayor of Liverpool)
 - T Hughan
 - R Miles & Co
 - J Tarleton & Co, also Tarleton & Backhouse

Table of Details of Ships Used on the Triangular Route Britain—West Africa—Caribbean

From the Movement Table a second table describing the ships was formulated by cross-referring to Lloyd's Underwriters Register 1800. This table is in four sections

- Part 1 Where the tables are completely aligned. Captain's names are mentioned where there is more than one vessel with the same name.
- Part 2 Where the captain's name is completely different
- Part 3 This section shows vessels in register that don't appear in the Movement table (initially bound for Africa)
- Part 4 Remainder of the Movement table that were not found in the Underwriter's Register, with given captain's name.

These table headings for Table 2 are:

- 1 Vessel's name
- 2 Type
- 3 Build (Sh. = Sheafed, Cu = Copper)
- 4 In situ spelling (Vessel/captain)
- 5 Tonnage
- 6 Decks
- 7 Year built (None = Not Known)
- 8 Location built
- 9 Draught (in feet)
- 10 Wood
- 11 Armament
- 12 Company (in situ)
- 13 Registered port

In the table of "Armament" the guns of the common construction are distinguished by a "p" after the number and weight of metal ("pounders"). Carronades are marked by a "C", and short guns of the new construction by "NC".
